

The use of the LBBW Markets-Portal (LBBW Markets) is subject to the compliance with the following limitations and terms.

By using the LBBW Markets-Portal (LBBW Markets) you agree to accept the following conditions for use

Despite careful preparation to the best of our knowledge and belief, our sources may contain false information. For this reason, we cannot guarantee the correctness, completeness, up-to-dateness or accurateness of any information given. The opinions of the authors expressed in the diverse comments, reports and recommendations can change without previous notice.

The provision of information and, in particular, of the product and trading recommendation as well as the indicative prices in the LBBW Markets-Portal does not constitute a contract offer. Particularly, no contractual relationship between the user and LBBW can be derived from the usage of this service. The provision of data cannot be claimed. Contractual and quasi-contractual claims of any kind are excluded.

The information available on the LBBW Markets Website as well as the results generated and shown with the evaluation tools are exclusively for your information. In particular, the content of this website neither does constitute an investment advice nor should it be considered as a recommendation to buy or sell securities or other types of investment products described therein. Users should also note, that the presented information is not able to substitute an investment, legal or tax advice.

In regard to the detailed configuration of the investment products presented on the LBBW-Markets website and the risks to which this products are subjected to, the respective offering circular or prospectus, which is available on the website, is the only legally binding document. Before making any investment decision, the users should carefully read the information contained therein.

LBBW reserves itself the right to modify, limit or stop the offer at any time or to introduce fees for it.

Within the provisions of law, LBBW does not accept any liability, whatever the legal grounds may be. Claims for damages are excluded.

The LBBW Markets website contains information on the past performance of securities or other types of investment products. This information is neither a guide to future performance nor an indication of future results.

LBBW and / or its data suppliers have the copyright and other property rights in all web sites, including layout, source text, software as well as in all contents.

We appreciate your understanding that websites may be called up, copied and stored and its contents may be changed totally or partly for the use of the registered users as ultimate users only. Copyright signs and brand names may not be changed nor removed. The publication of such retrieved, stored, copied or changed data is not permitted.

All further usage is subject to prior consent of LBBW in writing

The validity of these terms and conditions as a whole shall not be affected by the invalidity or invalidation of individual provisions hereof.

The law of the Federal Republic of Germany shall apply to this agreement. The place of jurisdiction is Stuttgart, Germany.

(Information: 18. Feb. 2009)